PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

Second Preference Votes To Be Counted To-Day

ELIMINATION OF DR. McCARTAN

THE first count in the Presidential election ended on Saturday night as follows:—

| | |
|---|---|
| MR. SEAN T. O'KELLY | 537,965 |
| GEN. S. MacEOIN | 335,543 |
| DR. P. McCARTAN | 212,791 |

Mr. O'Kelly was thus 10,369 votes behind the combined total of the other candidates, but only 5,185 short of the quota. General MacEoin was more than 200,000 votes short of the quota.

The second count, caused by the fact that no candidate obtained an over-all majority, will begin in Dublin to-day under the direction of Mr. Wilfrid Brown, Returning Officer. Votes from all constituencies were sent to Dublin during the week-end.

Dr. McCartan will be eliminated, and the election will be decided on the distribution of his second preference votes.

To be elected, General MacEoin would need to get almost all of these, whereas Mr. O'Kelly needs only about 2½ per cent.

Cabinet Re-shuffle Possible

The election of Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly to the office of President—which now seems likely — would cause a Cabinet re-shuffle and a by-election in the Dublin N.-W. Dail constituency, writes a political correspondent.

The position which would arise if Mr. O'Kelly left the Government is said to have been discussed by Mr. de Valera and his colleagues shortly before polling day. I learnt that Mr. Sean Lemass would probably be appointed Tanaiste. At the same time he would continue to be Minister for Supplies and Minister for Industry and Commerce.

This would still leave open the post of Minister for Finance. It is thought probable that Mr. Sean MacEntee, who was Minister for Finance in Mr. de Valera's first Government, and who continued to occupy the post for a considerable number of years, would return to his old Department. If this should occur it is considered likely that one of the Government Parliamentary Secretaries—and Mr. Erskine Childers has been mentioned—would be appointed Minister for Local Government and Public Health.

Dr. Ward, the present Parliamentary Secretary to that Department, would, it is stated, continue to look after the public health side, with the likelihood of becoming Minister for Health under the Government's proposed new public health plan.

A by-election in Dublin N.W., Mr. O'Kelly's constituency, would seem virtually certain to result in the election of a Fianna Fail candidate, thus leaving the state of the parties in the Dail the same as at present. Mr. O'Kelly topped the poll in Dublin N.W. at the general election in June, 1944, with 13,830 first preference votes. The total Fianna Fail vote in the constituency was 22,024, against a total cast for all other parties of 20,721.

The percentage of the electorate that voted in the presidential election was approximately 60.

Mr. Eden Bereaved

Mr. Anthony Eden's mother, Sybil Lady Eden, died at her home, Park Lodge, Windlestone, Co. Durham, yesterday.

Sir Timothy Eden, the present Baronet, was present at his mother's death, but Mr. Eden, who is recovering from a duodenal ulcer, was not well enough to make the journey.

Sybil Lady Eden was the daughter of Sir William Grey, a former Governor of Bengal, and was born in India 78 years ago, and at the age of 19 was married to Sir William Eden, the seventh Baronet, who died in 1915.

Dr. Douglas Hyde's New Residence

ARRANGEMENTS have already been made by Dr. Douglas Hyde to place the official residence at the disposal of his successor, who will move into Arus an Uachtarain next Monday.

Dr. Hyde has taken the former Under-Secretary's Lodge nearby as his own residence, and will move to it this week.

It is expected that the new President will take the oath of office in Dublin Castle on Monday next and then be escorted to his official residence.

Dr. Hyde, it is understood, will leave behind him in Arus an Uachtarain many interesting souvenirs of the first seven-year Presidential term of office, including his collection of pictures and documents of historical interest, which include paintings such as the large one of the first meeting of the Council of State.

Big Dublin Vote Against Government Nominee

AN Irish Times correspondent writes:—While the allocation of voters' second preferences cannot be expected to prevent Mr. O'Kelly's election, it will be interesting to see how voters who supported Dr. McCartan recorded their next preferences, respectively, for Mr. O'Kelly and General MacEoin.

An analysis of the papers included in the Irish Times "Straw Vote" showed that approximately 80 per cent. of these were for McEoin and 20 per cent. for O'Kelly. Will similar results be revealed by to-day's count of papers on which voters expressed second choices?

An analysis of the results of first preference votes reveals the interesting fact that Mr. O'Kelly's chief support came from areas more or less remote from Government Buildings.

In Dublin City and County and Wicklow County—which includes the semi-suburban districts of Bray and Greystones—the totals of voters' first preferences were 96,647 for Mr. O'Kelly, and 117,878 for his two opponents. Had the election been confined to these two counties, General McEoin would have been eliminated, and those of his 55,679 papers on which second preferences appeared would have been distributed between the surviving candidates—Mr. O'Kelly and Dr. McCartan, in which case Mr. O'Kelly's chances of success would have been very doubtful.

But a significant fact is that a 20,000 majority of voters in the Dublin area recorded their votes against the Government's nominee for the office of President.

Pope Broadcasts To France

The Pope broadcast a message to the French nation yesterday, on the occasion of the completion of the Apostolate of Prayers at the Sacre Coeur, Montmartre.

The main subject was the sanctity of marriage endangered by divorce, loose living, indecent spectacles and the Press. He laid stress particularly on the importance for France of large families, healthy and devout, firmly established on marital and paternal authority.

"The destiny of your fatherland is in your hands," the Pope said. "The worth and prosperity of a nation lies not in the blind action of multitudes, but in the normal organisation of families, healthy and numerous, based on the authority of the father, on the vigilance and provident industry of the mother, in the unity of the children. The strength of a nation lies in the interwoven textures of the families which constitute it. Every time one of the meshes making up the texture of society is relaxed or broken the whole solidity of the network is endangered."

Disunity, disunited and disrupted families do not make a healthy society, but an amorphous conglomeration of individuals, said the Pope.—(Reuter.)

Canal Mystery

Nicholas Connell (30), of 71 Bannow road, Cabra, who was taken out of the Royal Canal, near Broome Bridge, Cabra, yesterday, was found to be dead on admission to the Mater Hospital.

While walking along the Liffey at Islandbridge, opposite the U.C.D. Boat Club yesterday, Tony Morgan (6), of H Block, 344 Oliver Bond House, fell into the river. His seven-year-old brother, Jerry, immediately dived into the water, but was unable to render any assistance. Joseph Kennedy, a member of the A.R.P. Rescue Service, of 21 Ring terrace, Inchicore, who was passing, jumped in and brought both boys to safety and rendered artificial respiration.

Dublin Corporation

FIANNA FAIL GAINS ELEVEN SEATS

THE new Dublin Corporation, which contains ten more members than the old, will consist of 19 Fianna Fail members, 12 Fine Gael, 11 Labour and 3 Independents. Fianna Fail has gained 11 seats and Fine Gael one, while Labour, the biggest party in the old Corporation, has lost two seats.

First preference votes were distributed as follows, comparisons with the last municipal election, in 1942, being given in parentheses:—

| | |
|---|---|
| Fianna Fail | 59,181 (27,969) |
| Fine Gael | 36,117 (27,279) |
| Labour | 31,460 (34,939) |
| Independents | 18,841 (21,472) |

In this election Ailtiri na Aiseirghe polled 3,180 votes; in 1942 Republicans of different descriptions polled 6,207.

The following are the members of the new Corporation:—

Friendly Talks Between Poles in Moscow

DECISIVE steps will be taken in Moscow in the next few days towards a settlement of the Polish problem, which has been described as the greatest single stumbling block to Allied unity.

With the arrival on Saturday of Mikolajczyr, former Premier of the London Polish Government, and Stanczyk, a Democrat, all groups of Poles are now in Moscow in readiness for the formal talks, which are expected to begin almost immediately.

The public trial of the "16 Poles" is due to open to-day. Admission tickets to the courtroom were issued yesterday, stating that the trial will be conducted by a military official of the Supreme Court of the U.S.S.R.

Mikolajczyk and Stanczyk are staying in the same hotel as the four Democratic leaders from Poland, including M. Kutzreba, who confirms M. Witos' illness, and says that M. Witos is not expected to go to Moscow.

PARTY HELD

A party was held on Saturday night, at which Mr. Molotov, the Soviet Foreign Minister; Sir Archibald Clark-Kerr, the British Ambassador; Mr. Averell Harriman, the U.S. Ambassador; and the different groups of Poles were present.

The party, given by the Crimean Commission, achieved the immediate object of the Commission at the quickest possible moment—it got all the Poles talking together, and last night the three groups of Poles met together, without the members of the Crimean Commission, and, apparently, on their own initiative.

This is regarded in Moscow as the most welcome indication that progress is being made in this primarily Polish affair.

Earlier Mikola Jczyk conferred at length with Kutzreba, one of the four democratic leaders from Poland, and the others of his group.

LONDON POLES' FEARS

While these signs of progress are reported from Moscow the Polish Government in London published a communiqué at the week-end declaring that the trial of the sixteen Polish leaders "would frustrate any genuine attempt to a Polish-Russian understanding.

For more than five years, the communiqué states, the leaders headed the struggle of the Polish nation against Germany, and strove to bring about an improvement in Polish-Russian relations. Their personal safety was guaranteed by the Russian authorities, who pledged themselves to provide the Polish representatives with every opportunity to remain in direct consultation with the Polish Government, as well as with political circles in London.

Declaring that numerous arrests and deportations were constantly taking place in Poland under the Soviet occupation, the communiqué asserts that no freedom of speech, Press or public meeting exist, and that, while such circumstances remain, "the creation of a legal and independent Polish Government of National Unity, based on the freely expressed will of the Polish people, is practically impossible."

The presence of the Soviet Army in Poland is contrary to a joint declaration made by the four major Powers on October 30th, 1943, states the communiqué, which adds: "Any action on behalf of the Western democracies aiming to normalise the conditions of life in Poland should be preceded by: (a) The liberation of all Polish citizens arrested and deported since 1939; (b) immediate withdrawal from Poland of the Soviet Army and political police; (c) cessation of the enforcing upon Poland of a political system which is alien to the Polish nation."

According to the A.P. correspondent in Moscow it is reported in foreign diplomatic circles there that "startling evidence" may be presented against General Okulicki and some others of the 16 Poles. Responsible circles say the Red Army charges them with not only terroristic and diversionist activity against the Poles, but of being in possession of radio sets, through which they were in constant touch with the London emigré Government.

Mr. Kolodzei is leaving London to-day to join his two Polish colleagues already in Moscow in consultations regarding the formation of a provisional Polish Government of National Unity. He is leader of the Polish Seamen's Union in Britain. Some time ago he withdrew his support from the London Polish Government.

Japanese Premier's Fear Of Early Invasion

UNITED STATES marines and infantry have seized important hills in the south of Okinawa island, where the Japanese are making their last stand, says Reuter.

Airfields, barracks, radio stations and harbour facilities in the Anami group of the Ryukyu islands under 200 miles from Kyushu were smashed during the week-end by navy carrier aircraft and army and marine tactical fighters based on Okinawa.

These bombardments followed an attack by British Pacific Fleet units of the by-passed Truk Atoll, one of Japan's most formidable bases in the Central Pacific.

Allied carrier planes, according to the Japanese News Agency, were withdrawn from Okinawa waters and transferred to the land based aircraft operating from Okinawa airfields, which the Americans are expanding.

Admiral Nimitz, U.S. Naval Commander-in-Chief, Pacific, yesterday made a statement rebutting criticisms by the Washington columnists of the New York Sun that the conduct of the Okinawa campaign "was an example of military incompetence worse than Pearl Harbour." Implying that the correspondent was guilty of "malicious gossip," and, moreover, was "badly misinformed," Admiral Nimitz suggested that the correspondent had been given the data obviously for the purpose of making an attack which involved Admiral Nimitz, his staff and commanders.

An Associated Press report from San Francisco states that Suzuki, the Japanese Premier, inspected Nagoya's war plants and devastated areas, according to Tokyo Radio, which warned the Japanese that the loss of Okinawa would pave the way for a "great aerial offensive" by the Americans and the early invasion of their home islands. The radio stressed that Allied planes from "many airfields on Okinawa" would furnish air cover for further landings, either on the China coast or Japan itself, and expressed the opinion that such landings were imminent. It called on the Japanese people "to exact a life for a life."

AIR STRENGTH

United States strength in the Marianas, from which Super-Fortresses bomb Japan, has been increased. The agency added that 700 Super-Fortresses were now operating from those bases, also that United States air strength on Iwo-Jima base was being accelerated.

Tokyo Radio announced that Australian soldiers have driven six miles down the coast from Bruner towards the Sarawak oil area of Zitong.

In the Philippines, the Americans have advanced five miles into the Cagayan valley.

In the South Pacific, the Australian Third Division, supported by tanks and flame-throwers, have cleared the Hari River crossing in Southern Bougainville.

In Burma, bad monsoon weather is hindering operations, particularly air activity.

Chinese troops in Southern China are ten miles east of the former Japanese base of Ishan, on the Kweighow-Kwangsi railway, states a Chinese communiqué. Japanese counter-offensives against the strategic centre of Chienkiang, fifty-five miles south-west of Liuchow, and against Lapain, forty miles south of Liuchow, have been repulsed.

Lungnan and Tingnan, in South-west Kiangs, have been taken by the Japanese.

Gandhi Expected To Meet Viceroy

Political observers believe that, following his exchange of telegrams with the Viceroy, Gandhi is certain to accept Lord Wavell's invitation to meet him at Simla for a discussion next Sunday, states a Bombay (Reuter) report. Whether he will attend the conference session next day will depend on the results of their talk.

Himmler's Assistant In Custody

Walter Schellenberg, Himmler's right-hand man and formerly S.S. Brigade Fuehrer, will be turned over to the Allies as a war criminal by the Swedish authorities, states a Stockholm Associated Press message.

Schellenberg had been living at Rosa, near Stockholm, and was picked up two days ago. He originally came to Sweden with official approval to assist Count Bernadotte as "contact man" in connection with Swedish efforts to obtain the release of Danes and Norwegians imprisoned by the Germans.

Military Ammunition Dump Explodes

An ammunition dump at a Canadian camp in Witley, Surrey, exploded last night. The first explosion was heard ten miles away, and windows in houses at Milford, a mile distant from Witley, were shattered. Explosions of the ammunition continued for over an hour. So far as is at present known, no one was killed. Four Canadians were injured and are in hospital.

Thanksgiving Day Transport Cut

Passenger train services will be suspended, except on the Dublin-Greystones, Cork-Youghal and Waterford-Tramore sections on Thanksgiving Day, on Friday week. All goods offices and warehouses will be closed and goods train services suspended. Livestock will be accepted only at places where fairs are held, and for which special provision has been made. Dublin and district buses and trams will operate as on Sundays. Provincial bus services will operate as on week-days, with certain exceptions. On the Great Northern Railway Lines certain local services into and out of Dublin will be altered or cancelled. All goods depôts and warehouses in Eire will be closed for the reception and delivery of goods and mineral traffic.

Bodenstown Ceremony

Mr. de Valera yesterday laid a laurel wreath on the grave of Wolfe Tone at Bodenstown, Co. Kildare. Before the ceremony the guard of honour fired a volley over the grave. Mr. O. Traynor, Minister for Defence, also laid a wreath on behalf of the Army.

Those present included:—Mr. G. Boland, Minister for Justice; Mr. H. Colley, T.D.; Mr. T. Harris, T.D.; Senator Stafford, Senator Sean O'Donovan, Lieutenant-General D. McKenna, Chief of Staff; Commandant Brennan, Colonel L. Egan, Q.M.G., and Colonel S. Flynn Adjutant-General.

Big Welcome—New York is preparing its most tumultuous welcome for General Eisenhower when he arrives to-morrow.

Bomb Threat to Royal Couple

An anonymous letter writer—to the police—threatened to throw a Mills bomb at the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester as they drove through Brisbane on June 7th, says Reuter.

The letter was written on Australian Comforts Fund notepaper, apparently by a serviceman who claimed he was "not satisfied with the deal meted out to me." Precautions were taken, but the tour went on as arranged.

Medical Congress

Twelve countries have been invited by the Persian Government to take part in the International Medical Congress to be held in Teheran on July 1st-9th. They are Britain, Russia, U.S., Egypt, Syria, Lebanon, Palestine, India, Turkey, Afghanistan, France and China.

KING LEOPOLD TO RETURN

Belgian Cabinet Resigns

A SERIOUS political situation appeared last night to be developing in Belgium, says the A.P., following the resignation of M. Achille van Acker's Government because of King Leopold's decision—announced on Saturday night—to return to the country.

Special guards were stationed at the National Radio Station and the Central Telegraph Office in Brussels, indicating that disturbances were feared.

Brussels tram workers announced that they would go on strike if King Leopold returned. Other strikes and demonstrations are anticipated. There have been some small-scale strikes already in the mining belt.

The Government, in a bluntly-worded communiqué, said it was unwilling to cover or appear to agree with any act, speech or declaration made by King Leopold on his return. The Cabinet said it would carry on the Government until the King sets foot on Belgian soil, but from then on the Regency would cease automatically, and the King would have to assume full responsibility.

There is no indication when the King will return. Last night Premier van Acker said: "I am not yet gone, and I hope to carry on"—words which, says Reuter, may be interpreted as meaning that the Government now out of power still hopes that the King will abdicate.

King Leopold had the support of his country until 1940, when he ordered his troops to lay down their arms in face of the German invasion, and refused to follow his Government into exile. He gave himself up to the Germans at Laeken. When Belgium was liberated last autumn the King's brother, Prince Charles, was elected Regent.

New Italian Cabinet

Rome Radio said last night that Prince Umberto had invited Signor Parri to proceed with the formation of a new Italian Government.

Parri said later that six parties had finally agreed "in general" on the structure of the new Government.—(A.P.).

Joyce in Floodlit Cell

The cell at Bow street, London, occupied by William Joyce, the man who is accused of broadcasting for the Germans as "Lord Haw Haw," was floodlit throughout Saturday night as a security measure, says the Press Association.

The big doors leading into the yard through which Joyce was brought were kept locked. Yesterday they were guarded by two policemen. These doors are normally kept open.

The cell in which Joyce spent Saturday night is understood to be the one which Dr. Crippen occupied in 1910.

After to-day's court proceedings, which will be formal, Joyce will be taken to Brixton Jail.

RHEUMATISM

Who are the people most likely to suffer?

Is the outdoor worker more susceptible to Rheumatism than the indoor worker? Are women more liable to suffer than men? The middle-aged, rather than the young? Are you, yourself, a possible victim? If so, what can you do to avoid the trouble?

Authorities now believe that a great deal of Rheumatism is caused by poisons absorbed into the bloodstream—and this, it is found, is of more importance than other factors such as age, conditions of work, etc., which are more in the nature of contributory causes.

Poisons in the blood are believed to be a direct cause. Your own blood, for instance, may be absorbing poisons from bad teeth, or septic tonsils perhaps, or what is even more likely, from stagnating material in the bowel

It is known that people who are constipated are more likely to suffer from Rheumatism than those who are not. It is also known that a reliable laxative like Fynnon Salt has helped a great many Rheumatic sufferers.

There is an interesting fact about Fynnon Salt which should be better known. A dose, after it has passed through your stomach on its way down the system, DIVIDES INTO TWO PARTS. Part is absorbed into the blood—thus stimulating the kidneys to filter poisons away from your circulation by way of the bladder. The other part of the dose enters the intestines—and so gently relieves the bowels, thus removing the stagnating material in which poisons responsible for Rheumatism are apt to originate.

To avoid any kind of Rheumatism, such as Neuritis, Lumbago, Sciatica and the like, and particularly if you are inclined to be constipated, you will see the wisdom of taking Fynnon Salt.

Her teeth are YOUR concern—

Every mother wants her children to grow up with strong, firm, white teeth, safe from the danger of decay. Dentists advise the use of the one toothpaste containing 'Milk of Magnesia'*, which corrects acid mouth, often the cause of dental trouble. The toothpaste to ask for is Phillips' Dental Magnesia. Children love its pleasant, mild flavour.

Century of Work in Aid of Poor in Ireland

"THE world of sin and loneliness and death would never cease to call on you; nor can your faithful charity, in the purpose of God, ever reach to all boundaries of human need," said the Most Rev. Dr. McQuaid, Archbishop of Dublin, at a general meeting of the St. Vincent de Paul Society in the Capitol Cinema, Dublin, yesterday.

The meeting formed part of celebrations to mark the centenary of the founding of the Society in Ireland in 1845, and was addressed by representatives of the Society from the U.S.A., France, England and Wales.

The representative of the Council-General, Paris, said they were grateful that Ireland had been spared the horrors of war and that his own country had emerged from a painful situation. France had been described as the eldest daughter of the Church, and she still deserved the name n spite of appearances, because there was an increasing section of the people profoundly Catholic. Ireland could, however, be called a very beloved daughter of the Church.

The representative of the Council of England and Wales said that, thinking of the sufferings and cruelties of total war, the future did not look too bright, but the gentle spirit of St. Vincent de Paul still lived in the country.

The representative of the Council of the U.S.A. said there were 2,500 conferences with 25,000 members of the Society in the U.S.A. This year they also would celebrate the centenary.

The President of the Council of Ireland said that their purpose in these celebrations was to learn from the past and to build from the present. Their work would bear only dead fruit if they departed from the tradition of intimate and enduring friendship with the poor in their own homes.

In a paper on "The Society in Ireland in the 20th Century," it was stated that there had been a threefold increase in the number of conferences and of active members. Instead of 157, there were now 453 conferences, and active members had increased from 2,464 to 7,165. Special works had multiplied almost by seven. In 1895 there were 34 aspirant members, and to-day there were upwards of 340 gathered in 39 young men's conferences.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

Drogheda Commercial Club (Messrs. W. J. Berrill, M. J. Kehoe, J. Ward and Miss U. Berrill) qualified for the semi-final of the inter-club championship with a win against the Regent Club (Mr. P. Quinn's team).

Another Regent team, captained by Mr. F. T. Quin, are facing defeat in their semi-final tie against Mrs. Hickey's team (Mrs. F. McLoone, captain), with an arrears of 1,100 points at the end of the first half of their match. The concluding half will be played at the Regent Club this evening.

The results of the weekly Mitchell tournament at the Invitation Pairs of the Regent Club were:—Section I.—North-South—1st, Miss L. Leech and Mrs. Colgan; 2nd, Mrs. M. Clarke and Mr. F. T. Quin. East-West—1st, Miss McParland and Mrs. F. Morrin; 2nd, Miss M. Fox and Mrs. J. J. O'Doherty. Section II.—North-South—1st, Mrs. M. White and Mrs. J. P. Morgan; 2nd, Miss M. ## NEW MEMORIAL HALL

The ceremonies began on Saturday with the blessing and opening of the new Memorial Hall at the Orphanage, Glasnevin, Dublin, by the Most Rev. Dr. F. Wall, Bishop of Thasos.

The hall cost £15,400. It will be principally used for recreation and, in addition, there are a number of classrooms.

The Bishop said that the members of the Society were eminently practical; for 50 years ago they erected a new chapel and to-day they were erecting a new hall. He was proud to say that the Conference in Northern Ireland had contributed very handsomely to the erection of the new hall. It was their earnest desire to keep the orphanage in the foremost ranks of Catholic education. They were still faced with a debt of £4,000, but the Brothers of the community could rest assured that that sum would be discharged.

OBITUARY

MR. ROBERT M. SCOTT

The death took place unexpectedly at his residence, Grovelands, Barnhill road, Dalkey, on Friday last, of Mr. Robert Mackey Scott, M.A., LL.B. Born at Mountcastle, Donemana, Co. Tyrone, 57 years ago, he was educated at Foyle College and McGee College, Londonderry, and then went on to Trinity, where he took his M.A. and LL.B. degrees. He took up the teaching profession and engaged for some years at Dungannon Royal School, at Foyle College, the Masonic Boys' School, Clonskeagh, and later he became headmaster of St. Andrew's College, Dublin.

He was a well-known figure in the Irish Rugby world, being a playing member of Monkstown Club, and later a member of the Selection Committee. He married Miss Cecilia Deanes Hunter, of Riverstown, Co. Sligo, by whom he is survived. One brother, the Rev. Andrew Scott, is Presbyterian minister of Ballynure, Co. Antrim; two other brothers are farmers in Londonderry and Tyrone.

LADY TRIMLESTOWN

Lady Joan Trimlestown, whose death occurred at her residence, Newtown House, Blackrock, Co. Dublin, was daughter of the late Sir Christopher Nixon, Bart., Vice-Chancellor of the National University, and widow of the 18th Baron Trimlestown. Her husband's family, the Barnewalls, one of the prominent Anglo-Norman Catholic families of Ireland, played a big part in Irish affairs from the 12th century. The Trimlestown peerage was conferred in 1461, and some time later another peerage, Viscount Kingsland, was conferred, but this became extinct in the last century. The family suffered attainder and forfeitures, both under Cromwell and William the Third, and only managed to retain the freedom of the family inheritance as a result of successful litigation after the fall of Limerick. Many members of the family were among the Wild Geese and in the Irish Brigades abroad. The late Lady Trimlestown took a very active interest in many charitable activities. Her stepson, Charles Barnewall, is the 19th Baron.

MRS. COLLINS-O'DRISCOLL

The death took place yesterday, at her residence, 147 North Circular road, Dublin, of Mrs. Margaret Collins-O'Driscoll, eldest sister of the late Michael Collins. Born in Clonakilty, Co. Cork, in 1878, Mrs. Collins-O'Driscoll was a prominent member of the Sinn Fein movement in this country. She was elected as Cumann na nGaedheal T.D. for North Dublin in 1923, and retained her seat in the two elections in 1927. She was unsuccessful in the general election in 1933. In 1926 she became vice-president of Cumann na nGaedheal. A national teacher by profession, she was Principal of Lisavaird Girls' School for 28 years, before she retired in 1928. In 1901 she married Patrick O'Driscoll, a journalist, who died some years ago. She is survived by five sons and nine daughters.

MR. G. C. AVISON

The death took place at his residence, 63 Merrion square, Dublin, yesterday, of Mr. George C. Avison, former managing director of Messrs. Switzer and Co., Ltd. Aged 69, Mr. Avison had been in failing health for some considerable time. He was educated at Wesley College, and began his business career in Messrs. Switzer's employment. He resumed his studies in England and on the Continent, and later returned to his old firm. He became managing director shortly afterwards. He is survived by his widow and one son, who is serving with the Royal Navy. His other son was killed in action with the R.A.F. in Tunisia.

Dear Sirs,
I am home on sick leave at present. I have gained great benefit by taking Yeast-Vite tablets, and I would like my patients to gain as much. (Sgd.) Nurse ——.

Barrow-in-Furness,
Aug. 12th, 1944.

Dear Sirs,
Having been ill for a long while, I thought I would try your Yeast-Vite tonic tablets, as friends of mine were concerned that I did not pick up. After taking two bottles of your tonic I am a new woman, full of energy, do my work the same as I used to do. I have told a few people, and one lady has taken Yeast-Vite for only a week, and she tells me she is feeling fine.
(Sgd.) Mrs. S.

WHAT'S YOURS?

Birthstones . . . as recommended by the National Association of Goldsmiths:

Jan. : Garnet.
Feb. : Amethyst.
Mar. : Aquamarine or Bloodstone.
Apr. : Diamond or Crystal.
May : Emerald or Chrysoprase.
June : Pearl or Moonstone.
July : Ruby or Cornelian.
Aug. : Peridot or Sardonix.
Sept. : Sapphire or Lapis-lazuli.
Oct. : Opal.
Nov. : Topaz.
Dec. : Turquoise.

Opals are universally regarded as unlucky stones, except when the owner is born in October, when the beautiful opal is claimed to bring great good fortune.

Although the mystic powers of the gems may be doubted by some, their beauty and wonder is beyond question.

We are interested in the purchase of all these jewels, whether loose or mounted, modern or antique, set as brooches, bracelets, rings, necklets, and especially diamond rings.

WEALTH IN WATER

While there can be no doubt that nature's greatest gifts to Ireland are our richly fertile soil and moderate climate, there are other natural endowments whose potentialities yet have to be explored. Those who have given special attention to the latent possibilities of our inland, coastal and deep-sea fishing industries claim that they are second only to those of agriculture. Having regard especially to world shortages of food, and to recent advances in speedy overseas transport they say that there are almost unlimited opportunities of a steady export trade in fresh and preserved fish. At first sight such claims may seem to be altogether extravagant. Nevertheless, the various representations that have been made appear to be sufficiently well-founded to call for serious examination. If such potentialities exist, how is it that no really serious effort yet has been made to turn them to useful account? Why is it that trawling fleets from several continental countries have continued to monopolise the harvests from the Atlantic and from fishing-grounds that lie immediately adjacent to harbours on our western and southern seaboards? Why has so little been done to develop the known resources of our coastal fishing industries? How has it come about that no organised effort of any consequence yet has been made to exploit the unrivalled attractions and commercial possibilities of our inland lake and river fisheries? Broadly, as we believe, there is one answer to all these questions. The explanation is that—as in other matters—everybody's business is nobody's business. Practical possibilities of immeasurable importance to the country's economic life have been allowed to go unexplored because a multiplicity of Government departments, engaged in other complicated activities, has persisted in spasmodic efforts to deal severally with various aspects of a problem that clearly calls for unified study and treatment.

As illustrations of the way in which fishery organisation has been parcelled out to various State and voluntary agencies, it is necessary to mention only the facts that the Minister for Agriculture—through a special sub-department—is responsible for sea and certain inland fisheries; that the Department of Industry and Commerce deals with harbour and factory organisation; that the E.S.B. shares with scores of boards of conservators and the Civic Guards responsibility for the stocking, maintenance and protection of inland fisheries, and that the Tourist Board now takes some active—but undefined—part in the promotion of angling as a sport to attract visitors from abroad. Further dissipations of energy and authority arise from conflicts of view between boards of conservators, and the inability of the overworked Guards to limit poaching activities. In all directions there are clashes between commercial and sporting interests, and between groups who stress the rival values of salmon, trout and other fishing activities. Meanwhile, there is a complete absence of co-ordinated study of the scientific problems on which the preservation and development of inland fisheries ultimately must depend. Thus the potential revenues from commercial exports and tourist expenditure—authoritatively estimated at many millions yearly—are in jeopardy.

What signs are there, if any, that Ministers are becoming aware of these dangers and possibilities? Obviously there can be no single or simple way out of such a veritable tangle of difficulties. Very different methods may have to be applied to deep-sea problems, that seem to call for the organisation of costly trawler fleets and preservation factories, and to the treatment of fishery problems as they are related to sport and tourist development. Yet the widely different issues have one thing in common. Speedy transport—especially by air—opens up new possibilities both for the commercial exporter and for the tourist industry. Linked together with a chain of small factories for the preservation of surplus "catches" that now are wasted, commercial aircraft can be relied on to bring "fresh" supplies to markets that now are beyond the economic reach of rail and sea transport organisation. Salmon caught to-day in Galway, and herrings landed in Donegal, thus might appear on to-morrow's breakfast tables in Manchester and Birmingham. Fish preserved in Clare's curing factories might be marketed six months hence in Paris and Moscow. Some such possibilities may have been in the mind of Dr. Ryan when he disclosed the Government's plans to purchase deep-sea trawlers, to finance outlay on modern coastal fishing craft and to introduce legislation for the reorganisation of inland fisheries. Each of these plans to realise the potential wealth that now lies unused in our lakes and rivers and our surrounding seas may be welcomed; but, as we believe, the prospects of success would be much brighter if all studies of fishery problems, both scientific and administrative, were assigned to a single central authority. The whole question is too big and too involved to be dealt with as a side issue in the organisation of Ireland's economic life. It is a whole-time job that demands the concentrated energies of a body gifted with imagination and highly specialised knowledge.

Breakfast

If the Englishman's home is his castle, his breakfast is his coat of arms. The world knows him as the eater of bacon and eggs; it feels that he expresses his whole philosophy of life in the solidity of his matutinal fare. Porridge, kippers, bacon and eggs, toast and marmalade, tea or coffee—these are the things he craves to break his fast, and to set him up for the morning's business. With such a ballast in him, he is not to be wafted from his course arbitrio popularis aurae, or overturned by any sudden squall. Fate cannot harm him; he has breakfasted. Yet, though he has fought gamely against the orange-juice and cereal repast that his daughters have adopted from the stranger, the Englishman of to-day is a puny enough breakfaster compared with his forebears. Archdeacon Grantly's table bore tea and coffee, toast and a dozen varieties of bread, eggs, bacon, fish and devilled kidneys, with a supplementary ham and sirloin on the sideboard. Another eminent divine, the Rev. Dr. Folliott, went so far as to declare that "a man of taste is seen at once in the array of his breakfast table." "Chocolate, coffee, tea, cream, eggs, ham, tongue, cold fowl—all these are good, and bespeak good knowledge in him who sets them forth; but the touchstone is fish: anchovy is the first step, prawns and shrimps the second, and I laud him who reaches even to these; potted char and lampreys are the third, and a fine stretch of progression; but lobster is, indeed, matter for a May morning . . ." Even if the exigencies of war had not reduced the selection of comestibles, few households to-day would dream of spreading a table that would satisfy the Reverend Doctor. For convenience, if for no other reason, the light breakfast is coming into favour, and bacon and eggs soon may be as rare a sight in the morning as tongue and cold fowl are now. Absit omen! Who could be drawn from bed on a cold morning by the lure of an Oslo breakfast?

"FOREIGN FLAGS"

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—In your issue of to-day's date there is an item referring to corespondence between the Minister for Justice and myself. Since the wording of the item may give rise to some misconception of the incidents referred to, and of the terms of the Minister's letter to me, I would be obliged if you can find room to publish this letter and the copy of the Minister's letter which I enclose.

The flags referred to were not flown as part of an organised celebration, but were isolated incidents at farmhouses and cottages. To the best of my knowledge only one appeared in the town, and that was a small paper Union Jack stuck inside a window. There was thus little that could be termed "provocative" about the incidents.

The other matter to which I would like to direct attention is the Minister's statement that the flying of these flags was, in itself, quite lawful. To the lay mind, at least, the somewhat peculiar position has arisen that to preserve the peace and protect property the Civic Guards may restrain a lawful act. One would have expected that the procedure would have been to restrain law-breakers, i.e., anyone who sought to interfere with the lawful act.

I admit that my legal knowledge is limited, but I know of no other lawful action which has met with this odd procedure.—Yours, etc.,

W. A. W. SHELDON.

Raphoe, Co. Donegal.
June 14th, 1945.

The following is the Minister's letter:—

DEAR DEPUTY SHELDON,—With reference to our interview in Leinster House, and to your letters of the 23rd and 26th ultimo in which you queried the legality of the action taken by the Gárda Síochána to prevent the display of foreign flags in the Raphoe area on May 8th, I thought it desirable, before writing to you, to get police reports on the incidents enumerated by you, and to submit all the papers for the opinion of the law officers. I am now advised that the Gárda action was justified. The police concerned were of the opinion that if the flying of these flags had been allowed it would have led to serious breaches of the peace and damage to property. It was their duty to secure the maintenance of the peace, and in furtherance of that they exercised their right to restrain any overt act which threatened to imperil that peace even though that act itself may not have been unlawful.

As regards the further query contained in your letter of 30th ultimo as to whether the carrying of banners by the Orange Lodges in procession on 12th July is lawful, I must refer you to my previous paragraph. The question is one to be decided by the police on the spot, regard being had to the maintenance of the public peace.—Yours, etc.,

(Signed) G. BOLAND.
Office of the Minister for Justice,
Dublin.

CORK STREET HOSPITAL

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I write as a private citizen to add my voice, even at this late hour, to the volume of protest that has been raised by the Minister's action in regard to the board of Cork Street Fever Hospital. I am ashamed to say that until last night I knew nothing about it, not having read the correspondence in the Irish Times. It is in the hope of dispelling such apathy in a matter of grave public concern that I am now striving to make amends.

We in this country are in the habit of using great words like "Individual Liberty," "Government by the People," "Equality Before the Law," without any precise meaning. We do not realise that "Individual Liberty" is not a thing that can be won or kept by a battle, or even by a war. It must grow. Each one of the "five freedoms" which we enjoy as citizens in this democratic State has had to be gained by the efforts of individual men and women, most of them nameless, through the long course of history. Every Government seeks power; it can only be held in check by the independence and public spirit of the citizens themselves.

Those who cannot attend the protest meeting should send a postcard at once signed with their names to Cork Street Hospital Protest Meeting, Beswick House, Rathfarnham.

The names will not be published, but they will be counted; that is the important point.—Yours, etc.,

M. H. BLUETT.

Colonel Stephen Anderson, O.B.E., second son of the Rev. William Anderson, former headmaster of Mountjoy School, Dublin, who has been promoted to the rank of Brigadier. He joined the British Army in 1939, and was made a Captain in the same year. He saw service at Dunkirk, and during 1941 and 1942 was organiser of Army Education in Lincolnshire. In the spring of 1942 he was promoted to the rank of Major in the Northern Command, and in midsummer was offered a post in the Middle East, which, in January, 1943, he took over, with the rank of Colonel. In January, 1944, he was awarded the O.B.E.

Cruiskeen Lawn

By Myles na gCopaleen

IS all well, I wonder, with the Honourable Commissioners for Public National School Education in Ireland? Hide out it.

Deputising recently for my son, who had to attend a race meeting, I sat for one of the Commissioners' exams and found myself confronted with a document—and thoroughly illegal it looked—entitled "1945. EXAMINATION FOR PRIMARY SCHOOL CERTIFICATE. ENGLISH. 200 MARKS" Let it be said at once that this document was framed by persons not conversant with English. "Candidates are advised," I instance, "to give no more than half of the time to the Composition." I imagine that "not more than" would have been more exact and literate and I doubt whether small school folk should be designated "candidates." It may lead them to believe that they will get £480 a year if they pass—if not indeed £5,000.

And this Composition. One of the subjects is stated thus (c) Water.

Quite. But do they mean sea-water or just water? And what do schoolboys know about water? The next choice is "A conversation between a Civic Guard and a soldier, each of them saying that he would prefer the life of the other." (Why doesn't he take it?) Freud, you see, pure and simple. The anatomy of frustration.

There is then a long passage about one Toto and under "Questions" we lads were faced with this astonishing construction:

"Whether was Toto a dog, a boy, or a monkey?" Forget even that "whether" and ponder to yourself the taste of examiners who put as a choice author before eager and generous youth some unknown artist who fails to make it clear whether his characters are beasts or people. "What was it he made sure of?" is another sentence. In my earlier schooling, it was not permissible to end a sentence with a preposition save in the case of a convict, who was always allowed to say at the end of his sentence "This is a good place to get out of."

I did my best with this paper, then out to the yard to consume my 'lunch', i.e., two hunks of bread wrapped in newspaper. Back after lunch to attend to the Irish paper.

Hmmm.

I am, of course, not easily surprised, but the Irish paper was really most unusual. Absolutely full of mistakes. Could . . . . . could these people not get some bright schoolboy to vet the papers for them before they are released?

Take a look at the following atrocious examples of what education is supposed to cure:

"Cé an ċaoi ar teasbám an buaċaillín naċ raib rcát na eagla air?"

"Nuair a bíonn uaireadóir ag fear cá gcoimeádaim ré é?"

"Scríoḃ airce ar ċeann aṁáin de na h-aḋḃair reo."

Really, I mean! Is it not scandalous that young children should be permitted to see such things? What are schools for—meeting life and all the humbug that goes with it before you are old enough to take it? (Incidentally, the caps are mine, as the two-headed circus man said at the cloakroom).

Nor is it merely a matter of misprints. Here is a sentence that proves that whoever framed it has yet to grasp Irish syntax, grammar or the inner idea:

"Caidé an ċéad rud a iarr an leaid beag ar an máigistir?"

I have had occasion to comment—severely—on this sort of thing many many times throughout the years. It is humiliating and distressing that nothing is done, that the most instant note is not taken of my findings. It is truly discouraging. Do my feelings not matter . . . at all?

AN TAOISEACH'S VISIT

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Surely the date of Pope Pius XII's utterance, June 2, 1945, quoted by Barrister-at-Law, has a significance which we cannot, without hypocrisy, ignore.

Twelve years ago, on July 20th, 1933, the Concordat was signed between the then Cardinal Pacelli and Fritz von Papen. There is much in it that betrays a different outlook. For example, Article 16 contains the following oath of fealty to be taken by German bishops on entering their dioceses: "I swear and promise to honour the constitutional Government and to cause the clergy of my diocese to honour it." The constitutional Government referred to was, of course, Hitler's.

Those who, like myself, were in Vienna after the Anschluss cannot forget the proclamations that were issued by the Austrian bishops and Cardinal Innitzer, as well as by the heads of the Austrian Evangelical Church. They concluded mostly with "Heil Hitler!" Cardinal Innitzer received no public reprimand from His Holiness.

The leaders of countless European States and Churches, at one time or another, bowed down in the House of Rimmon. Those who bowed down to Rimmon after he had been knocked off his pedestal seem to me eccentric, but no worse.—Yours, etc.,

"LAYMAN."

Co. Kilkenny.

AN IRISHMAN'S DIARY

After the Poll

SO the election is over, and we can hardly expect to know whether it is in the bag—or the box—for Sean T. until this afternoon. I pity the two survivors their week-end of nerves. Dr. McCartan is out of his misery, at any rate, but General MacEoin must have just enough hope lingering on to make him restless.

On the whole, it was a clean campaign. There was, of course, Mr. Lemass's lamentable crack about Dr. McCartan and the Sweep tickets; but in general the Ministers kept their daggers away from their opponents and merely jabbed now and then at the Irish Times—an innocent pastime which never does much harm to anybody.

But it is refreshing to be done with the faint dishonesty that clings around the electioneering of even the most honest candidate. I particularly liked Mr. de Valera's stirring call to the people to rally round Mr. O'Kelly to avoid giving an impression of disunity in Ireland—as if his own party hadn't put up Sean T. with its eyes open, and deliberately precipitated disunity by choosing a party fight instead of an agreed non-party candidate!

You Said It!

The best remark of the whole campaign was General MacEoin's. Without questioning its truth, I feel it must be the most remarkable thing ever said by an active-service General. Here it is as reported: "The fact that he had never lost a man either killed, wounded or captured, in all his engagements before and during the civil war, was sufficient answer to those who questioned his fitness for leadership."

Fianna Fail had one rather unenthusiastic cog in its party machine. He called at the door of a friend of mine with a sheaf of leaflets in his hand, and said in a fine Kerry accent: "I dunno are 'oo interested in this election at all? I'm supposed to be canvassing." And he diffidently offered a leaflet.

My friend said that he was sorry, but he had already decided to give his first preference to Dr. McCartan.

The cog nodded. "Ah, there's no use talking so. Sher anyway I s'pose it won't make much difference to either of us in the end."

Pomp and Circumstance

Yesterday afternoon Noel Purcell, the well-known Dublin comedian, was crowned King of Dalkey Island and Emperor of the surrounding Dominions. This mock coronation dates back to the eighteenth century, and was revived by the Old Fianna Association, which organised the whole ceremony.

The ceremony began in Dún Laoghaire, where the King-elect met an escort of horsemen and bands, and drove through the beflagged streets in an open carriage. In case the gentlemen are interested, Noel was wearing a smartly tailored pillar-box red uniform with gold trimmings and accessories to match. His Napoleonic hat had an immense white cockade.

When he reached the frontier of his kingdom he was met by massed bands and escorted to Coliemore Harbour. Here on the scene of so many of his angling victories—for His Majesty is a keen fisherman, and this is one of his favourite fishing-grounds—and attended by his retinue, the King embarked for the island in a suitably decorated vessel. A loud cheer arose from the roads around Coliemore, from the quayside, from the rocks, from the grassy slopes of Carrig na Greine and from a fleet of yachts anchored in the Sound.

Minority Problem

On the island, the King-elect carefully averted his eyes to avoid rude remarks scribbled on the rocks by a small, but vociferous, republican minority in his kingdom, and having received the crown re-embarked for the mainland.

The procession then moved off for Carrig na Greine, where the final act of this impressive drama was staged. Michael Clarke, known to many as a Dublin actor, and to some as Lord Chancellor of this particular Realm, placed the crown on the Monarch's head and made a proclamation, which began something like this:—

"Whereas the elders of this Kingdom, meeting in solemn conclave, have, wisely, and in the best interests of their affectionate and loyal people, decided that his Most Facetious Majesty Noel the First, with all fitting ceremony, be crowned King of Dalkey, Emperor of the Muglins, Defender of His Own Faith, and Respector of Others, Prince of the Holy Island of Magee, Elector of Lambay and Ireland's Eye, Sovereign of the Illustrious Order of the Lobster and Periwinkle."

Happy Kingdom

The King then removed his crown and addressed his subjects after his fashion, issued a few decrees, and, by an understandable oversight, omitted to declare the fun fair and sports at Carrig na Greine open. Notwithstanding, the fair soon opened itself, and King Noel's happy citizens proceeded to disport themselves at the tug-o'-war and such games. The King himself was immediately mobbed by autograph hunters; surely this must be the first time that a ruling sovereign has been asked for an autograph.

The Monarchy is a curious one. The duties end with the coronation ceremony, and nobody seems to know how long the King will remain in office: "I suppose until we crown somebody else King of Dalkey," one of the organisers told me.

Among the spectators I noticed a number of American soldiers, obviously puzzled by the whole thing. Probably they thought it was something to do with the Presidential election!

Trophy

Some unsigned member of the British Army on the Continent has just sent me a poster, bright in red, green and yellow, advertising a performance at the Theatre Royal des Galeries, Brussels, in aid of the victims of Buchenwald Camp. The date is May 13th, 1945.

Apart from an item called "Loufoquerie Americaine," which my dictionary renders picturesquely as "American barminess," there is nothing of particular interest in the programme. What does interest me is that the poster itself is printed on the back of a section of the one-inch Ordnance map of Co. Omagh.

All the notes along the margin are in German. My correspondent adds that large numbers of these maps of all parts of Ireland were found in the Gestapo headquarters in Brussels when it was captured.

A. N. Other

The absence of Quidnunc from this corner is due to circumstances over which he had no control whatever. He was taken into hospital yesterday morning, and a couple of hours later parted—none too soon—with his appendix. During his convalescence his place will be taken, as usual, by

PRO-QUIDNUNC.

LONDON LETTER

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON.
SUNDAY NIGHT.

MR. W. G. FAY is to star in a new play, "Chicken Every Sunday," which Firth Shepherd is putting on at the Savoy on Wednesday. The veteran Abbey actor and producer won fresh laurels recently in the title rôle in "Father Malachy's Miracle," which ran for several weeks at the Embassy Theatre. "Chicken Every Sunday" is a swift going modern American comedy which has been running for over a year in New York. It is based on the story of a boarding house in Arizona by Rosemary Taylor, and has been adapted for the stage by Julius J. and Philip F. Epstein. "W. G." plays the part of an old mine prospector and other leads are being taken by Frank Leighton, Angela Baddeley and Alison Leggatt. Austin Melford is producing.

Holyhead Service

Virtually all sailing tickets on the Holyhead-Dun Laoghaire service have gone until the middle of July, it is understood. Now that the holiday season for Irish workers on this side of the Channel has opened, enough people want to travel to warrant a second boat every week-day. Before the war there were three mail boats on the route, which had the distinction of being the fastest cross-Channel service in the world. But the Scotia was sunk off the French coast while acting as a rescue ship at Dunkirk and the second vessel is still on war service.

ORDINATIONS

Fifty new priests were ordained by the Most Rev. Dr. McQuaid, Archbishop of Dublin, at St. Patrick's College, Maynooth, yesterday. They are: The Revs. M. Cryan, M. Russell, P. McPeake, P. O'Loughlin, T. Burke, M. Keating, T. McEnnis, T. Morris, M. Lang, J. O'Neill, E. Murphy, T. O'Donnell, J. O'Leary, E. O'Malley, C. McDonald, C. Whelan, C. Mullins, D. O'Flynn, J. Perkins, P. Gallagher, R. Horan, J. Friel, J. Sadlier, D. Crowley, D. McElligott, E. Murphy, W. Phelan, G. Griffin, W. Shinkwin, J. Keane, O. Collum, J. Carrigan, E. Houlihan, F. Fehily, P. Corish, P. Cooney, P. Coleman, D. Crilly, P. Dargan, T. McKillop, M. O'Keeffe, J. Hillan, F. Teggart, J. Whelan, J. Archdeacon, R. Maher, J. Campbell, C. Martin, J. O'Sullivan.

The following were ordained at Glanworth by the Most Rev. Dr. Roche, Bishop of Cloyne: The Revs. N. O'Connor, J. O'Hanlon, P. Cotter and P. Carroll.

The following were ordained at Mullingar by the Most Rev. Dr. D'Alton: The Revs. P. Regan, M. Keogh, K. Cuffe, P. Smith and T. Gilooly—all of Meath.

The Rev. D. Carroll was ordained at Loughrea by the Most Rev. Dr. Dignan, Bishop of Clonfert; and the Rev. J. O'Kelly was ordained at Cavan by the Most Rev. Dr. Lyons.

At Londonderry the Most Rev. Dr. Farren ordained the Revs. W. Rafferty, H. O'Kane, J. Doherty and D. Donnelly.

A COMPLETE CURE...

Co. Clare,
15-2-1945

Dear Sirs,

For a number of years I have been subject to severe headaches which persisted in varying degrees after taking all kinds of advertised remedies. Recently my chemist recommended Embex which, to my great joy, effected a complete cure. At the time my maid had a bad attack of Neuralgia, and Embex tablets in a few minutes brought an end to days of suffering. My maid now swears by Embex, and reminds me always to keep a box in the house. This, of course, is unnecessary, as I shall never again be without Embex.

Yours faithfully,

I DETERMINED TO REDUCE—

—and did! It was so simple! I ate my usual meals, took no strenuous exercises, did not weaken my body with drastic purgatives—yet day by day I felt myself getting lighter, the fat seemed to slip away. Now I have a lovely, graceful figure—and I never felt better in my life!

That, in brief, is what thousands of women who have reduced the 'Marmola' way might well tell you. Four times a day they take a little tablet containing in exactly the right quantity a world-famous corrective for abnormal obesity. A corrective acknowledged to act naturally and to be a most effective reducer.

Today—buy a package of 'Marmola' and start at once. Soon you will experience the benefits of 'Marmola'. When you have slimmed far enough, stop taking 'Marmola.' Sold by all Chemists at 3/- per box. Fassett & Johnson (Ireland), Ltd. (Dept. 42), 6 Crow St., Dublin.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

without Calomel and you'll jump out of bed in the morning full of vim and vigour. The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk, and the world looks punk.

Laxative helps a little, but a mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 1/3 and 3/-.

STRONG FINISH BRINGS LUCKY JORDAN HOME

AT the Phœnix Park substituted meeting on Saturday, Lucky Jordan, a colt by Panorama out of a Spion Kop mare, who cost 3,100 guineas at the Ballsbridge yearling sales last September, started favourite for, and won, an exciting race for the Boyd-Rochfort Plate.

A furlong from home Lonesome Trail — who, closely tracked by Crom Croich, had made all the running — was still holding Crom Croich off, with Harmonium rapidly making up ground, and Lucky Jordan, beautifully balanced, started his run alone on the stands side. Ella Retford was not far behind, and once Harmonium closed with Lonesome Trail, Duffy shot her in between them. As these three fought out a great finish, it seemed likely one of them would win; but Lucky Jordan, travelling far faster than any of them, raced into the lead and shot past the judge's box three parts of a length in front of Harmonium.

Lucky Jordan is now owned by Mrs. G. Gilroy. Mr. N. Galway-Greer bought him at the sales, and, in November, he also paid 600 gns. for Dulcinea, who won the maiden two-year-old race. She led throughout; and, though Golden Fay tackled her resolutely below the distance, she ran on stoutly, to win comfortably by a length. Dulcinea, who comes from the same female line as Sun Stream, is the first two-year-old winner this year from the Clonbarron stable.

Ford Transport has earned a reputation for courage and consistency. He thoroughly deserves it. On Saturday Eddery was niggling at him a long way out, but he battled his way home with rare determination, and eventually beat Shady Boy and Count Gabriel by a neck and three-quarters of a length. Cleverly placed since running fifth in the 2,000 Guineas, Ford Transport has now won four maiden races within a month—a highly commendable record, for not one of these races was won without a bitter struggle.

Catering by Thomas Neary, 1 Chatham street, Dublin.

A. ADEDOYIN CLEARS 6-2 IN HIGH JUMP

THE most attractive event at the Civil Service Red Cross sports at Lansdowne road on Saturday was the high jump handicap, as it provided a meeting between R. O'Rafferty, the A.A.U. champion, and A. Adedoyin, the African student now at Queen's University, Belfast, whose appearances in Dublin have heretofore been confined to University competitions. O'Rafferty was set to concede Adedoyin 2 ins. Both cleared 6ft., but O'Rafferty failed when the lath was raised another 2 ins. Adedoyin crossed the bar at 6ft. 2 ins., and won the handicap by 4 ins. Another competitor from the North was J. Nesbitt. L. N. Horan failed to give him 2ft. 6 ins. in the shot-putting event, and the R.U.C. man tied on handicap with J. A. Keogh (5ft.), with another R.U.C. man, M. D. Clarke, third.

The other open events did not produce any notable performances. J. Crossan scored an unusual double by winning the mile and two miles (Walsh not running at his best in the latter), and G. A. Ruskell, the quarter-mile champion, beat the half-mile champion in the scratch 600 yards.

100 Yds.—P. Dolan (Clonliffe) (8), 1; A. G. Wallace (Clonliffe) (9), 2; C. O'Cléirigh (C.S.) (9), 3. Yd.; ins. 10 1-10 s.

200 Yds.—A. McGrath (Clonliffe) (22), 1; P. Dolan (Clonliffe) (18), 2; A. G. Wallace (Clonliffe) (21), 3. Ins.; same. 22 2-5 s.

600 Yds. (Scratch)—G. A. Ruskell (Hermes), 1; J. Lockhart (Clonliffe), 2; M. Gallagher (Crusaders), 3. Ten yds.; ins. 1 m. 20 1-5 s.

Mile—J. A. Crossan (C.S.) (120), 1; T. McManus (Donore) (150), 2; F. J. Kelly (Donore) (155), 3. Ten yds.; three. 4 m. 24 s.

Two Miles—J. Crossan (C.S.) (140), 1; J. B Maguire (C.S.) (150), 2; C. G. Cillan (Crusaders) (165), 3. Six yds.; sixty. 9 m. 39 2-5 s.

High Jump—A. Adedoyin (Queen's Univ.) (2 ins.), 6 ft. 4 ins., 1; R. O'Rafferty (Donore) (scr.), 6 ft., 2; J. M. McGowran (Donore) (2 ins.), 5 ft. 10 ins., 3.

16lb. Shot—J. Nesbitt (R.U.C.) (2 ft. 6 ins.) and J. A. Kehoe (Donore) (5 ft.) tied at 42 ft. 1 in.; D. M. D. Clarke (R.U.C.) (2 ft.), 40 ft. 7 ins., 3.

Relay (Inter-Club)—Hermes (G. A. Ruskell, H. E. Jephson, K. C. Jephson and B. U. Powell), 1; Civil Service, 2; Crusaders, 3. 3 m. 48 s.

220 (Boys)—N. Fingleton, 1; L. Conway, 2; J. Holton, 3. 25 3-10 s.

880 Yds. (Youths)—F. Fennell (Clonliffe), 1; T. Rooney (Crusaders), 2; G. Smyly (Clonliffe), 3. Three yds.; eight. 2 m. 11 1-10 s.

100 Yds. (Ladies)—N. Waldron (Dublin) (10), 1; L. Doran (C.S.) (5), 2; L. Casey (C.S.) (4), 3. 12 2-5 s.

Confined Event Winners—N. Meagan, G. Rathaille, N. Fingleton, K. McCormack. Relays—Land Commission, P.O. Accounts (women's).

FOURSOMES CUP FOR HOME PAIR

By J. P. ROONEY

THE holders of the Irish Open Mixed Foursomes Golf Cup, P. J. Kavanagh and Miss F. Blake, were beaten at the 19th in the semi-final at Milltown on Saturday by J. Belton and Miss Garvey, and in the final the Milltown pairing, Commandant D. V. Horgan and Mrs. P. Butler, beat Belton and his partner also at the 19th.

The scenes on the course recalled pre-war championship days. Seldom have matches in this country been followed by such big crowds.

Success went to the players who deserved it. Horgan and Mrs. Butler played the sounder golf. As a team, they were much better balanced. Horgan's long game with wood and iron excelled in power and accuracy that of Belton, and, if Miss Garvey's length and skill surpassed Mrs. Butler's, the Milltown lady's perfect steadiness, imperturbability and her chipping and putting stood to her in good stead.

Two strokes by Belton had a direct bearing on the result of the final. Horgan and Mrs. Butler reached the turn one up, being out in 39-41. They were all square at the 16th, after the Milltown players had been 2 up at the 10th, and for the first time Belton and Miss Garvey took the lead at the 17th.

It looked all over until, playing wood for his second to the home hole, Belton got on a loose, flabby pull. Horgan left his full iron just to the right of the green. Miss Garvey plugged her third from the mound a little too strongly—she had to hit it hard—Mrs. Butler chipped up beautifully, and Horgan holed for a very fine 4. He played a low raking drive and carried the 19th. Belton got on an extraordinary slice, and his partner could not recover from the very heavy lie. A 3 for Milltown to a 5 finished it. The winners, receiving two strokes, were home in 38-39.

In the semi-final, H. B. Linehan and Miss Pyper won three of the first four from Horgan and Mrs. Butler, but they lost 3 and 2. Playing the 15th, Kavanagh and Miss Blake were 2 up on Belton and Miss Garvey. They should have won, but they threw away their chance, and were beaten at the 19th.

DELGANY MOUNTAINEERS v. DIPLOMATIC CORPS

Sir John Maffey brought a team of ten members of the Diplomatic Corps to play the Delgany Mountaineers on their home course yesterday.

Details:—

Sir John Maffey (U.K.) and Baron Gonfalonieri (Italy) beat B. R. Kenny and R. C. Ferguson (D.M.).

J. D. Kearney (Canada) and M. Goor (Belgium) beat Dudley Walsh and J. P. Colbert (D.M.).

J. D. Craig (U.K.) and Th. Dobrzynski (Poland) beat D. H. Charles and P. J. Nolan (D.M.).

H. Osterberg (Denmark) and K. Kostal (Czechoslovakia) beat J. P. Coyle and H. Ferns (D.M.).

D. Gray (U.S.A.) and J. F. Gibbs (U.K.) lost to H. O. Coyle and F. Sheridan (D.M.).

Irishmen Not Eligible

THE circular I received from Mr. Fred Pignon, Golf Correspondent of the Daily Mail, relative to the 1,500 guineas Victory Tournament at St. Andrew's in September, stated that it would "be open to all recognised professionals." And, of course, we were looking forward to Harry Bradshaw, Irish champion for the last four years, and a few other Irishmen going to St. Andrews.

N. Wilson, Secretary, I.P.G.A., has, however, been informed officially that the tournament is open only to members of the P.G.A. (England) "or to any P.G.A. of the Allies." The P.G.A. debars from membership a professional who has not the sale of balls, and the perquisites of the professional generally, and consequently a few Irishmen only are members.

The change in the conditions, as they were drawn up by the Daily Mail, rules out Bradshaw—all Irish professionals, in fact, who are not members of the P.G.A., including those of the Ulster Branch of the I.P.G.A., as there is no professional golfers' association in Ulster, which, consequently does not come under the condition "or to any P.G.A. of the Allies."

It would be regrettable if, on a mere technicality, a professional of the standing in the game like the Irish champion were debarred from taking part in the tournament. It is true that up to 1939 the competitions in England and Scotland, financed by the business concerns, were confined to members of the P.G.A.; but this one, as the original circular set out, was intended to include "all recognised professionals" and to "provide an opportunity to renew friendly rivalry and give big golf a start." To rule out members of the I.P.G.A., who, through no fault of their own, are not attached to the P.G.A., would not tend to achieve the object for which the tournament has been arranged.

The applications of those Irish professionals who are not members of the P.G.A. for permission to play in the tournament will be considered at the next meeting of the P.G.A.

As June 29th is the date for the Thanksgiving Service, the Willie Nolan Memorial Cup competition, which was to have been played on that day at Portmarnock, has been postponed.

MOTHER, DO THIS for FRETFUL BABY

You have seen the difference between babies whose sleep is deep and unbroken and babies who are restless. In the former a steady, healthy growth; in the latter, weight at a standstill. Guard against this, Mother! At the first sign of fretfulness you can suspect stomach upset. Give baby a little 'Milk of Magnesia' brand antacid. 'Milk of Magnesia' gently and surely regulates the tiny bowels, and rids the small system of tormenting wind and soured matter. Recommended by Doctors and Nurses. Be sure, Mother, to say 'Milk of Magnesia.' 1/3 and 2/6.

Investors Looking to the Older Companies

PUBLIC interest in the Stock Markets has dried up considerably in recent weeks, owing to the uncertain world conditions, the approaching general election in Britain, and the start of the holiday season. Until the last two are out of the way, it is hardly likely we will see any marked change in conditions. Industrials are claiming most attention; but, even in this group, public interest is very selective. Investors appear to be confining their attention to shares in companies which have a good pre-war record. Unfortunately, most of them are tightly held.

Banking issues are generally meeting steady support, owing to the belief that they should do well in the years to come. During the past five years they have accumulated huge deposits. Much of this money had to be kept in a more or less liquid state, and, consequently, was not very productive. From now on more capital will be needed for industrial expansion. The supply position is gradually improving, and more money will be needed for new plant and machinery when it becomes available. This should help these companies to employ their resources more beneficially.

There is quiet buying of Batchelor (Ireland) Ordinary shares up to 14s. 3d. This company has done well since its formation, and, for the past few years, has paid an Ordinary dividend of 10 per cent. It is now dealing with a large variety of home-grown products, the market for which is quite good. It should have no difficulty in coping with outside competition when it comes. At the present price, and on the basis of last year's dividend, the shares give a return of £3 10s. 2d. per cent.

John Power Ordinary shares moved up to 17s. 3d., but, at this price, they would appear to be fully valued. For the past three years holders have received a dividend of 6 per cent., while in the two preceding years a payment of 5 per cent. was made. Over these five years the average earnings on the Ordinary shares was only about 5.8 per cent. There are hopes in certain quarters that the Debenture issue will be paid off at the earliest possible opportunity, and this would put the Ordinary shares in a much sounder position. Yet there does not appear much likelihood of this happening for a long time.

Polikoff (I.F.S.) 5s. Ordinary shares are rather buyers at 7s. 6d. This company has done extremely well since the outbreak of war, and for the past four years has paid an Ordinary dividend of 6 per cent., while last year earnings on these shares amounted to over 20 per cent. As the supply position improves, and the coupon system is abolished, the company's trading should expand. Of course, the Ordinary dividend is limited to 6 per cent. under the limitation of dividends. The outlook appears promising enough for the next few years at least.

Grand Canal Company £10 Ordinary shares are being steadily supported at 117s. 6d. Prior to 1939 this concern passed through a very difficult period, and only in recent years did it show signs of coming into its own again. Owing to the country's difficult transport position, more business came its way, for its barges were more useful for conveying turf, timber, etc., from the country to the city areas. Furthermore, it had little to fear from road competition. Yet it is difficult to gauge how the company will fare in the next few years. Since 1938 the Ordinary dividend has been steadily increased from 1 per cent. to 4½ per cent. in 1944. At the present price, they look high enough, having in mind the rather uncertain outlook.

IRISH PRODUCE IN MANCHESTER

Trade in all sections of the provision market in the Manchester area continues steady. Main commodities, meats, fats and dairy products all coming forward steadily from the control to meet ration requirements on the recently adjusted levels for certain descriptions. Deliveries of shell eggs are keeping up fairly well from allocations of Eire, Northern Irish, English and Canadian.

There was a slight improvement in supplies of salmon from Eire, but demand exceeded the supplies, which were quickly sold at the maximum price of 3s. 9d. per lb.

Prospects of Reviving Rubber Industry

FROM OUR LONDON FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT

NOW that the end of Japanese control in Malaya is in sight, it seems certain that the great rubber industry owned and financed by British investors will once more be able to operate. Definite plans exist for the rehabilitation of the industry, and what is known as the Hay Scheme is ready for use when the Government's decisions regarding the resuscitation of the economic and financial life of the country are made known. This provides for the formation of a single company through which all the owners of rubber estates of over 100 acres in Malaya will obtain supplies and services necessary for reconstruction, in an orderly manner, and thus avoid anything in the nature of disastrous competition.

The scheme will be entirely self-supporting, and is not asking the Government for any financial assistance. All it asks from the authorities is recognition by the Government as the channel through which shall pass all estate supplies and services during the period of scarcity. While some details have still to be settled, the Government has already pledged itself to support the scheme, and there is no doubt that it will obtain the adhesion of the large majority of the companies concerned. A similar plan is ready to be put into operation in connection with the industry in Borneo.

PROBLEMS TO BE FACED

It is well that the industry should have thus taken the problem of its rehabilitation into its own hands, for the task before it is faced with many formidable problems, and it is only by the united efforts of the whole industry, working in co-operation with the Government, that they can be solved.

Not the least of the problems will be those dealing with markets. How far these will be affected by the vast expansion of the manufacture of synthetic rubber can only be learned from experience. Expert opinion has suggested that the world consumption of rubber over the next few years will be about one and a half million tons a year, but it is also suggested that the total capacity for the production of natural and synthetic rubber will be nearly 3,000,000 tons a year. How, it has been asked, is this disequilibrium to be met?

THE CELANESE DEAL

Some doubt appears to exist regarding the intentions of the group headed by Morgan Grenfell and Co., which has purchased 800,000 Ord. shares and £348,374 7½ p.c. 2nd Pref. stock in the British Celanese Co. from the executor of the late Dr. Henry Dreyfus. The object of the sale was to raise funds for the payment of estate duty, a necessity which has been an active factor in the market in the shares.

SPILLERS FOR INVESTMENT

During the recent spell of weakness, the £1 Ord. stock units of Spillers, Ltd., the flour millers, fell from 69s. 6d. to 64s. 6d. They have since recovered to 71s., at which price, on the 15 p.c. dividends paid for many years, the yield is £4 4s. 6d. p.c. Control of the business of the company still operates and accounts are a year behind, the last being for the year to January, 1944. Even then, those submitted recently are more or less provisional, for final agreement has not yet been reached, either with the Ministry of Food or the Inland Revenue as to the results of trading and taxation. The company suffered heavily from enemy action, but, despite this, its output of flour has been consistently in advance of that of pre-war years. The provisional accounts indicate that the company's financial position is strong, the last balance-sheet showing an excess of liquid assets of £2,894,000. As an investment, the Ord. shares have attractions.

COAL PROBLEMS

Some plain speaking regarding conditions in the coal industry is done by the chairman of Pease and Partners, Ltd., in a statement circulated with the annual report. Absenteeism, he declares, has been abnormal. Many excuses have been made for the mine-workers, but the fact remains that many have not worked as hard or as regularly as during the earlier war years, despite repeated assurances by their leaders that increased wages would result in better outputs. More co-operation and goodwill by all concerned, including the mine-workers and their leaders, is essential. So far, the latter have taken every opportunity of advocating nationalisation of the industry, but he expressed the hope that the British public would, in their own interest, never agree to this. Until the direction of operations was handed back to the colliery technical managements, and essential discipline restored, no amount of planning would produce coal at economic prices and in sufficient quantities to meet the nation's need.

WALL STREET CLOSES FIRM

NEW YORK, Saturday.—Prices generally were firm at the opening, and new high levels in one of the most active Saturday sessions this year. Idle cash continued to flow into transportation issues, while rising hopes of tax relief for corporations aided the "bullish" contingent. Cheap money and the drying-up of investment sources remained as an important factor in the trend. Cautiousness, however, was evident. Some customers held off the market because of fears of further cutbacks and the thought of a technical correction. Gains towards the close ranged to two points, with several issues showing wider gains. The tone at the close was firm. Sales, totalling 1,100,000 shares, comprised 815 issues, of which 323 advanced, 278 declined and 214 remained unchanged.

CANADIAN DOLLAR TO RISE

An upward revision of the Canadian dollar exchange, recently strongly rumoured in London, is now "confidently expected in New York." Apparently it is taken for granted that any revision would lift the Canadian dollar from its present level of $4.45 to parity with the United States dollar at $4.03 middle to the pound. The anticipations of such a change are stated to be based mainly on the movement of funds from the United States to Canada, which, according to a Canadian correspondent, amounted to $6,000,000 in March alone. It is also pointed out that the price control has been extremely effective in Canada and fiscal policy realistic, so that the Canadian price level has risen less than the American.

MEATH WIN IN EXTRA TIME

BY PAT'O

Meath, 3 gls. 16 pts.; Dublin, 1 gl. 10 pts.

MEATH wore Dublin down at the end of a Marathon Leinster Senior Football Championship replay at Croke Park yesterday, before a record crowd for the second round. Four times in the first hour scores were level. Meath finished better at the end of every session, and ran away with the honours in extra time.

Frankie Byrne, at wing forward, was the star player on the field. His solo runs were the feature of a game which was dour rather than brilliant. Some of Dublin's veteran players failed to stay the extended journey.

The winners meet Offaly in the Leinster semi-final.

Byrne (1 gl. 8 pts.), McDermott (1 gl.), Meegan (3 pts.), Halpenny and Snowe (2 pts. each) and Maye (1 pt.) scored for Meath; Gibbons (1 gl. 2 pts.), Kelly (4 pts.), Culhane (2 pts.) and Markey and Fletcher (1 pt. each) replied for Dublin. The score at full time was level at 1-8.

Minor Cup Final—Killester Brendans 3-7, Denmark Street 1-3.

Leinster Senior Semi-final (H.)—Dublin 6-3, Westmeath 2-4.

Cork Co. C'ship. (H.)—S. Finbarr's 6-12, Carrigtuohill 2-6.

Kerry C'ship. (F.) — Castleisland 1-10, Rock St. (Austin Stacks) 2-4; Ballymullen Barracks 6-3, North Kerry 0-4.

CHAMPION DEFEATED

M. O. Kelly, holder of the twenty-five miles unpaced road cycling record, and the outstanding middle-distance rider of the present time, met with his first defeat of the season in an unpaced event yesterday in the open handicap time-trial of the Co. Dublin Road Club on the Navan road. Fastest time went to A. Cristie (Irish Road Club), who returned 1hr. 2mins. 25secs. L. J. Kelly (National) got within four seconds of the champion, and had a very easy win on the handicap. Placings and times:—

A. Cristie (I.R.C.), 1hr. 2mins. 25secs., 1; M. O. Kelly (I.R.C.), 1-4-4, 2; L. J. Kelly (National), 1-4-46, 3; H. O'Reilly (National), 1-6-20, 4; J. Keogh (I.R.C.), 1-6-26, 5; J. P. Shortall (National), 1-6-33, 6. Handicap Result—L. J. Kelly (11m. 31s.), 53m. 13s., 1; H. O'Reilly (10-30), 55-50, 2; A. Prosser (I.R.C.) (12m.), 57-48, 3.

FILM NOTES

BY A CINEMA CORRESPONDENT

MOST of this week's new films are war films. It is important that the Irish people should see such films. But it is more important that they should treat them seriously, as a record of pain and suffering, heroism and brutality—not as thrilling entertainment for the children on a wet Saturday afternoon. It is plain, both from the publicity that announces the arrival of each new war film, and from the attitude of a section of the audiences, that some people put these war films on a par with Hollywood mass-produced horror films, with the added attraction that some of the incidents "really happened."

The Story of Stalingrad (Carlton) is an admirable documentary which follows the fortunes of war in this city of fine buildings and wide streets from peace time to the time when it was reduced to an unrecognisable heap of rubble with dead bodies at every corner. It very properly bears an "A" certificate; yet, when I saw it on Saturday, there were as many children as adults in the audience.

In support there is a purely fictional story of the Czechoslovakian underground movement, Hostages, which tells how the Gestapo threaten to shoot twenty-six hostages because of the alleged murder of one of their officers. The indomitable spirit of the patriots is thrown sharply, almost too sharply, against the objectless cruelty of the Gestapo.

The Return of the Vikings (Astor) is a documentary film with a touch of fiction; telling the story of Norway at war, and particularly the story of the Norwegian merchant navy. This is a curiously quiet and restrained war film, although for some reason or another not as impressive as it might have been. Also showing is a revival of Captain Cautious.

Commandos Strike at Dawn (Theatre Royal), in spite of its rather sensational title, is a careful, quietly-convincing study of the resistance movement in German-occupied Norway, culminating in the escape of a party of Norwegians to Britain in a small boat, and the return of one of them with a British Commando attack party. Photography, direction and dialogue—the last understandably, as the film is adapted from a C. S. Forester story—are admirable, and the last sequences have some of the best battle scenes we have yet seen. Paul Muni plays the rôle of the Norwegian who leads the Commando attack, and the cast also includes Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Anna Lee.

Don't Take It To Heart (Metropole) is not about the war. During all its ninety-odd minutes only one bomb falls, and its sole effect is to release a whimsical, 400-year-old ghost. This is a film of light-hearted jests and delightful situations which could only arise in a British farce.

The ghost, a little reminiscent of the Canterville ghost, is a former Lord of Chaunduyt Court and wants to relieve his conscience by telling everybody how, during his life, he fenced in a common, depriving the villagers of their rights. The common is now the property of a nouveau-riche landowner and the story is concerned with the efforts of the villagers to get back their rights. The characters, or, perhaps, caricatures would be a better word, were played with typical thoroughness by a British cast—among them Edward Rigby, Breffni O'Rorke and Richard Bird. The leading rôles were taken by Richard Greene and a charming newcomer to the screen, Patricia Medina, in private life Mrs. Richard Greene.

The characters in Five Graves to Cairo (Capitol) lack the reality necessary to make them convincing. If Field-Marshal Rommel and his staff had been represented as thoroughly unpleasant one would understand it; but thoroughly incompetent they certainly were not. It would be no great credit to any British general who vanquished the slow-witted, dull, careless, easily-deceived Rommel of Erich von Stronheim.

AT OTHER CINEMAS

Reckless Age and Mystery Man (Corinthian); In Which We Serve (Savoy); Where Are Your Children? (Grafton); Story of Dr. Wassell (Grand Central); A Song to Remember (Adelphi); Can't Help Singing (Regal); Casanova Brown (Pavilion), Thursday, Sunday Dinner for a Soldier; Women in Bondage (Astoria), Thursday, Johnny Vagabond; Hail the Conquering Hero (De Luxe), Thursday, Dark Waters.

PERSONAL

"THE IRISH TIMES." HOLIDAYS AND NEWSPRINT SHORTAGE.

OWING to Government restrictions, it is impossible to supply extra copies of the "IRISH TIMES" anywhere.

Holiday-makers who wish to have their copy daily are asked to communicate with the IRISH TIMES Office, giving the name of their newsagent at home, the place where they are spending their holiday, and, if possible, the name of the newsagent there. Their copy, or copies, will then be transferred, but will be restored to the original agent on their return from holiday. They must, of course, cancel their order with the local agent for the time being.

A pleasant holiday to everyone.
